Post-connection message templates for qualified prospects.

Message structure

Observation → likely problem → relevant capability → low-friction next step.

Use case	Template
Estimating capacity	Hi [Name], thanks for connecting. From what I saw about [Company / project type], you may have periods where tender volume creates pressure on the estimating team. We support façade contractors with take-offs, BOQs and estimating capacity. If useful, I can share how we typically support teams during busy periods.
Shop drawing support	Thanks for connecting, [Name]. We also support façade teams with shop drawings and technical documentation when internal design capacity is stretched. If this is ever relevant for [Company], I can send a short example of the workflow.
Retainer resource model	One model that works well for growing façade contractors is a dedicated resource on a monthly retainer, so capacity is available without the commitment of another full-time hire. Happy to explain the model if useful.
Free pilot	For suitable prospects, we can start with a small pilot package so you can assess quality, communication and turnaround before deciding on ongoing support. If you have a suitable live package, I can explain how we structure the pilot.
Soft nurture	No problem if the timing is not right. I will keep an eye on your updates and reconnect when there may be a useful opportunity to support the team.
